

Year 4

In year 4 of the MChem courses, there are no compulsory lecture courses.

Instead students take six 10-credit lecture courses on advanced topics of their own choosing. Each lecture course lasts one semester (12 weeks), and consists of two timetabled lectures per week.

The remaining 60 credits in year 4 come from an individual research project (chosen by the student), which is supervised by a member of the academic staff, and carried out in their research laboratories.

Students are free to plan their own timetable of research work around the lecture courses that they have chosen.
